What is God Really Like?

God is Generous

Mike Openshaw

1. What one verse would you choose to sum up the “good news” of Jesus? (Your “biblical narrative.”)
2. If you came to Christ “early in the morning” in Matthew 20 terms (v. 1), what are your feelings about those who came to Christ more like “five in the afternoon” (v. 6)? Or if you yourself came to Christ five in the afternoon, what are your feelings about those who came to Christ early in the morning?
3. Think about how sin has damaged you, or how it has damaged a good friend or a close relative. What might a hellfire-and-damnation preacher say about the behavior?
4. Without getting theological, how might one admonish someone to turn away from that behavior?
5. Allowing the admonition to get spiritual, how would you describe the impact of the behavior on one’s relationship with God?
6. In one sentence, what does God want from you?
7. Select a verse about God’s love for you or his grace toward you and memorize it. Be ready to recite it during our group meeting, and explain why you chose it.
